

DESIRE QUICK ACTION ON NRA LEGISLATION

Would Insure Business About Future Under Blue Eagle

By Cecil B. Dickson
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, Nov. 29.—(P)—Administration officials have passed the word to congressional leaders that quick action is desired on forthcoming permanent NRA legislation in order to assure business about its future under the Blue Eagle.

Those at work under the direction of Donald R. Richberg, the recovery coordinator, were disclosed today to have made considerable progress on a tentative draft of a measure to continue indefinitely this major phase of the Roosevelt recovery program.

The present act expires next June. The administration wants the new measure enacted as quickly as possible in the coming session in order to have the permanent machinery ready for operation when the existing law ends. Further, the position is taken that the longer the measure is before congress the more it will disturb business. Extended consideration also would be more likely to engender controversy that might delay passage, the administration holds.

Expedite Action

In order to expedite action, it is now planned to include in the permanent law the public work authorizations or tax provisions designed to amortize such outlays, such as were carried in the existing act.

The house ways and means committee, which originates all revenue legislation, handled the first measure because of its jurisdiction over tax matters. But because the proposed bill deals chiefly with interstate matters, administration officials now have informed representative Rayburn (D-Tex.), that they desire it to be referred to the house interstate commerce committee, of which he is chairman.

Blackwell Smith, acting counsel of the NRA, conferred with Rayburn on the matter. It is understood that NRA officials prefer the latter's committee to handle the legislation because of its familiarity with interstate law.

As tentatively outlined, the new measure probably will provide for: Revamping of the anti-trust laws to produce a new conception whereby certain trade agreements may be legalized, others prohibited and regulated.

Preservation of the flexibility of code making, both as to commercial practices and labor conditions.

Authority to fix minimum wages and maximum hours of labor for each trade and industry.

Continuation of section 7-A of the present act, guaranteeing the right to labor for collective bargaining.

Creation of a yard stick prescribing dishonest business practices; and establishment of rule requiring regular employment and other date necessary reports on production, prices, wages for the government to gauge economic conditions.

EARTH SHOCKS

Slain in Battle With 'Baby Face'

Second federal agent to fall before the deadly aim of "Baby Face" George Nelson, outlaw slayer, Herman E. Hollis, above, was killed in a gun battle with the desperado and a companion near Barrington, a Chicago suburb. Hollis, only 28, was one of the youngest men on the government force. He is survived by the widow and a son, 4.

FEDERAL AGENT LIVED HIS WORK WIDOW DECLARES

Mrs. Samuel P. Cowley Is Glad Baby Face Nelson Is Dead

Chicago, Nov. 29.—(P)—In four words the widow of special agent Samuel P. Cowley of the Department of Justice today said what her husband would have said for her: "He lived his work." That he died his work, too, was apparent in her shadowed eyes as she sat with Sam Jr., eight months old, and John Joseph Cowley, three and a half years, while she granted her first interview since her gallant husband went grimly to his death.

Hardy federal agents stood about her hotel apartment, bulwarks against visitors; relatives hovered in the room, bulwarks against her grief. Only one reference was made to Nelson, whose death is credited to Cowley's submachine gun.

"I'm glad he's dead," Mrs. Layon Chipman Cowley said, avoiding the mobster's name.

Both she and her late husband are members of pioneer Mormon families who settled in Salt Lake City, Utah.

"Sam and I met five years ago when I was working in Los Angeles," she said. "He was there on assignment. He lived his work. His mind was always on the job. He worked directly under J. Edgar Hoover, head of the division of investigation. For six years he worked for the government before he was transferred to the division five years ago."

"He was assigned first to Washington, then to Detroit, then to Chicago. "I had been downtown shopping Tuesday and when I came home the operator told me to come to the office. They said my husband had been hurt and took me to the hospital in Elgin. He recognized me, but he didn't tell me what happened. He felt it was his duty to the public to run down that gang."

Mrs. Cowley made preparations to leave for Salt Lake City, arriving there Saturday for the funeral Sunday.

Among the relatives with her today were her sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Brossard; her brother, Lyman Chipman, a Department of Justice agent who arrived from Little Rock, Ark., and one of her late husband's brothers, Joseph F. Cowley, a student in a school of accounting at Washington.

Cowley is survived also by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Cowley, of Salt Lake City, five sisters, three other brothers and a half-brother. They are:

Mrs. Abbie C. Harker of Salt Lake City; Mrs. Leona Olson of Moroni, Utah; Mrs. Carol Dame of Salt Lake City; Mrs. Lois Gilchrist of Philadelphia; Mrs. Elma Austin, of Salt Lake City; Attorney Matthew Cowley and Dr. Hyde Cowley of Salt Lake City; Floyd Cowley, an attorney in Ogden, Utah, and Louis Cowley Burgen, of Chicago, a half-brother.

NO MARRIAGES

Waterloo, Ill., Nov. 29.—(P)—Justices of the peace in this little southern Illinois community Thanksgiving marriage made today in the past, had nothing to do today but eat turkey.

For the first time in the memory of the community, no marriage ceremonies were performed for out-of-townsmen today, but Justice of the Peace W. C. Ellbracht said it was probably due to better business conditions. "Couples came to Waterloo to be married in recent years because of the depression," he said, "since many persons have gone back to work they apparently have funds for more elaborate ceremonies."

THANKSGIVING IS CELEBRATED BY AMERICANS

Voice Thanks For Past Joys, Say Prayer For Future

By the Associated Press.

In the midst of feasting, America yesterday voiced thanks for past joys and said a prayer for the future.

A deep religious undertone led thousands to churches from one end of the land to the other before they turned to turkey carving and merry-making around their home hearths.

In his own "second home" President Roosevelt led the way, wielding a knife on a huge bird for the young patients at his Warm Springs health resort. Vice President Garner and the members of his family gathered at their Uvalde, Texas, home. Cabinet officers for the most part dined at home in the capital, though some returned to former surroundings for the holiday.

Tens of thousands of the needy were fed by the federal relief administration under the direction of Harry L. Hopkins, who voiced a hope the future would bring more prosperity for them.

Fifty thousand turkeys, not to mention venison and other meats, went into the centerpiece of thousands of tables for the 350,000 boys of the civilian conservation corps. Seventeen thousand more birds, weighing 207,100 pounds, were consumed in regular army posts.

Rain and snow in some sections made the day an indoor holiday for many. But the storms of the day brought cause for thanksgiving to the once drought-ridden midwest. Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and the Rocky Mountain states rejoiced in the return of rain and snow to feed moisture into sun baked lands.

The weather did not keep the plunk of pickin' from resounding on rain-spattered gridirons, signalling for many college teams the end of the football season. The sound carried to far-off Japan where an American club introduced the game in Tokyo to take a 26 to 0 trouncing from a Japanese team.

Plymouth, Mass., the birthplace of the Thanksgiving custom 213 years ago, led the way in religious observance. The old Pilgrimage church resounded again to the tinted service. In Washington and elsewhere there were many dawn services.

And in Seattle, two hundred blind persons said their thanks over a dinner that became a part of the city's custom 34 years ago when a Seattle clothier instituted it as a means of showing his appreciation because his mother had retained her sight.

An unusual touch was added in Denver where all those displaying the password of the tattered clothing and ragged shoes of the very poor were treated to 1,000 bottles of champagne with which to toast to "better days."

ROOSEVELT AND PATIENTS ENJOY TURKEY DINNER

President Slices Huge Gobbler at Founders Banquet at Warm Springs

By Francis M. Stephenson, Associated Press Staff Writer.
Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 29.—(P)—President Roosevelt climaxed his observance of Thanksgiving Day with a turkey dinner tonight in the resort where ten years ago he fought back an attack of infantile paralysis.

The president sliced a huge gobbler for children patients and Mrs. Roosevelt at the founders' banquet in Georgia hall.

Tourists crowded into the small community to witness the dedication of the two new buildings of the foundation by Mr. Roosevelt late in the afternoon.

The buildings dedicated were the new Kress hall, a dormitory, and the Columbus Ga., colonnade, erected in front of Georgia hall, the administration building of the foundation.

The president had luncheon and spent the afternoon with the trustees of the foundation, which group included men from all sections of the nation and from Canada.

James A. Moffett, federal housing administrator, came here with Mrs. Moffett as a member of the trustees. He will remain to talk over the vast new housing program which the president has determined upon to meet the needs of the lowest income group of the nation.

It appears to be the present intention of the administration to go ahead with the existing Moffett machine to provide federal guarantee for loans by private business to those able to obtain credit.

The new program calls for outright government construction of homes for the fellows with pocket-books too small to permit credit from private agencies and this, in all probability, will be differentiated from the existing housing administration.

John C. Hegeman of New York introduced the president at the dedication of Kress hall which was named after three brothers, Samuel, Claude and Rush Kress, of New York City, whose contribution made possible the completion of the dormitory building.

How Bullets Riddled Bandit Car

This bullet-shattered windshield of the bandit car is evidence of the ferocity of the gun duel waged by two federal agents with Desperado "Baby Face" George Nelson and a companion near Barrington, Chicago suburb, in which both agents were killed. William Gallagher, Illinois highway patrolman, is inspecting the windshield. He witnessed the gun battle from nearby gas station.

TUBERCULOSIS ON INCREASE IN ILLINOIS

Control Procedures In State Reduced One-Half

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 29.—(P)—Opening the sale of Christmas seals, the proceeds of which are used in the prevention of tuberculosis, Governor Horner (in a radio speech) today said the control program for the disease in Illinois had reached a critical stage.

"Reports given me within the last week indicate," the Governor said, "that the prevalence of tuberculosis is on the increase after a consistent and steady decline for nearly a decade. The same reports show that the number of nurses employed in the down-state campaign against the disease is now only about one-half the number so employed three years ago. Other control procedures had to be reduced in like proportion."

"When efforts at control are withdrawn or weakened, the disease begins to spread again. We have the choice of supporting preventive programs on the one hand, or of suffering the losses from more tuberculosis on the other. There is no middle ground. There is no escape from the cost of this disease. We must provide in advance for prevention, which is cheaper and more humanitarian, or pay later at the destructive rate exacted by tuberculosis."

Illinois, the governor said, has invested more than sixty million dollars in the campaign against tuberculosis during the last thirty years of this state.

"It is estimated," he said, "that preventive measures have saved from tuberculosis more than 50,000 lives since 1920 in Illinois alone. We must not lose ground."

Green said in his statement tonight that the increase in unemployment was partly accounted for by a 2.6 per cent drop in business activity and "by the fact that the efforts to increase employment in industry is not so general as it was at this time last year."

He made no mention of a reported industrial pickup during November.

"The serious implications of this increase in unemployment cannot be overemphasized," he said. "Relief need this winter is already higher than it was last year. Reports from urban areas show that in October, 1934, the number on relief rolls was 30 per cent greater than in Oct. 1933."

"In August the latest month for which we have complete figures for relief in the country as a whole, there were 600,000 more cases or nearly 3,000,000 persons on relief rolls than in August last year, an increase of 20 per cent. The total financial obligation for relief had increased from $61,470,000 to $148,426,000 or more than doubled."

"This means that in addition to the increase in unemployment those who have been unemployed for a long time have exhausted their resources; those who once had savings are dependent on relief. Food prices have increased and the cost of relief is greater; also relief in some cases is more adequate."

Whether the new forces in control intend to bring peace in the Chaco conflict or are set on continuing it to the bitter end was another question that received opposite answers.

Paraguayans in Rio De Janeiro asserted Salanman had been "bent" on continuation of the war against the advice of four outstanding Bolivians—among them Tejada Sorzano, Foreign Minister David Alvestegui and Carlos Calvo, Bolivian minister to Brazil.

Calvo denied this interpretation, which would mean that the Bolivian military command unwittingly played into the hands of pacifists by deserting the president.

YOUTH KILLED

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 29.—(P)—Kenneth Smoot, 23, of Mahomet, Ill., was killed and three companions were seriously injured late last night when the car in which they were riding struck the side of a freight train here. Gale Wright of Mahomet, a student at Illinois Wesleyan University, Bloomington; John Kroner, 23, driver of the car, and Ernest Babb, 21, were injured in the crash. Kroner's condition was critical today.

POLICE BELIEVE BABES IN WOODS MYSTERY SOLVED

Father Identified As Elmo J. Noakes Of California

Carlisle, Pa., Nov. 29.—(P)—Lieut. H. E. McElroy, chief of detectives of the state police, said tonight the description of the three girls and the man and woman found dead in Pennsylvania's "babes in the woods" mystery tallies with that of Elmo J. Noakes, of Roseville, Calif., his three daughters and his niece.

Noakes, former fruit shipping company employe, his daughters, Cordelia, 8, Dewilla, 10, and Norman, 12, and his niece, Winnie Pierce, 19, who also was his housekeeper, were reported by California police to have disappeared from their Roseville home Nov. 11 or 12.

The motor numbers of the car which had been traced through eastern and central Pennsylvania towns between Nov. 17 to 19 to McVeytown near Duncansville, where it was abandoned, tally with the numbers on the car sold to Noakes by a Sacramento dealer, November 10, McElroy said. California police reported.

"That would give Noakes just about time to get to Waynesboro," McElroy said.

It was at Waynesboro the trail of the automobile and the family first was picked up Saturday, November 17, and traced to Gettysburg, South Langhorne and Philadelphia during the next three days. Then the trail was lost.

McElroy said the proprietor of the Waynesboro lodging house reported the man, who spent the night there with a woman and three children, said they had been driving "for seven days from California."

Captain Charles Laporte of California state highway patrol said he learned Noakes had left his home there suddenly November 11 or 12 with two weeks' salary still due him from the company with which he was employed.

Chief E. E. York of the Roseville police also said Miss Pierce had appeared and reported Noakes' wife had been dead two years and that Miss Pierce had been living at his home, caring for his children.

Major C. M. Wilhelm, deputy superintendent of state police, has sent pictures of the five bodies to the Pacific coast. Lieutenant McElroy said descriptions he has received of Noakes and his children tally with the descriptions of the three children in Carlisle and the man found in the railroad shanty at Duncansville. The woman found with the man "could be Miss Pierce," McElroy said.

CLAIM BOLIVIA'S MILITARY FORCES ARE DEMORALIZED

Reports Reaching Paraguay Declare President Has Resigned

By Paul Sanders, Associated Press Foreign Staff, Buenos Aires, Nov. 29.—(P)—With the Bolivian government's policies in doubt following upon a sensational change in the presidency, the populace of Paraguay tonight celebrated reports of complete demoralization of Bolivia's military resistance in the two-and-a-half year old chaco war.

Censorship in La Paz still obscured the circumstances of President Daniel Salanman's sudden resignation. From observers in the capitals of South America, meanwhile, came various versions as to the attitude of the cabinet toward Vice President Jose Luis Tejada Sorzano, who took over the office.

Salanman, it appeared, was taken prisoner by his own troops. When he went to the Chaco front yesterday, intending to replace the commander-in-chief after almost a year of setbacks at the hands of Paraguay.

At about the same time, back in La Paz, Tejada Sorzano declared the chief executive's job had been vacated, and took it over as vice president. Today a 25 word message of resignation was sent out from the army headquarters at Villa Montes.

He was further reported Salanman was going into retirement.

The Bolivian cabinet, advisers reaching here said, has refused to collaborate with Tejada Sorzano until assured the president's resignation was genuine and willingly made. Private reports received in Santiago, Chile, said the cabinet not only would not cooperate, but refused to resign.

Suspicion was freely expressed about that Tejada's rise to power was the result of a "golpe estado" a coup d'etat.

Whether the new forces in control intend to bring peace in the Chaco conflict or are set on continuing it to the bitter end was another question that received opposite answers.

Paraguayans in Rio De Janeiro asserted Salanman had been "bent" on continuation of the war against the advice of four outstanding Bolivians—among them Tejada Sorzano, Foreign Minister David Alvestegui and Carlos Calvo, Bolivian minister to Brazil.

Calvo denied this interpretation, which would mean that the Bolivian military command unwittingly played into the hands of pacifists by deserting the president.

Bullet Victim Of 'Baby Face'

Two bullets in the abdomen from the gun of "Baby Face" George Nelson, kill-crazy desperado, ended the life of Samuel P. Cowley, above, inspector of the Justice Department division of investigation, in a roadside duel near Barrington, Chicago suburb. Cowley died in an Elgin, Ill., hospital, as his wife clung to his hand and his 4-month-old baby slept in a room beneath.

NEW HOUSING RULES CLARIFY OFFICIAL FEUD

Private Capital Is Invited To Join In Program

Washington, Nov. 29.—(P)—Private capital was invited by the federal housing administration today to step into the low-cost urban housing picture, with the inducement of federal insurance of mortgages up to the full cost of the buildings.

The invitation took the form of a new set of regulations for insurance on such projects, issued by James A. Moffett, the housing administrator. The move generally was interpreted as further clarifying the housing situation over which Moffett and Secretary Clegg clashed last week.

Moffett's rules definitely defined the low-cost housing field into which he hopes to bring private capital. President Roosevelt yesterday made clear that the government intended to help those whose pocketbooks were too slim to build their own homes.

The chief executive's announcement was interpreted to mean, however, that the federal funds would not be thrown into competition with private capital. Thus both the Clegg and Moffett plans would be kept from colliding.

Full Insurance

The housing administration's announcement today held out the hope in some instances of full insurance of mortgages on the second of the two classes of property with which it deals, namely, "properties comprised in low-cost housing projects occupied by a large number of family units, in either one building or a group of buildings."

Previously it had issued regulations on "properties occupied by one-to-four family dwellings," providing insurance up to 80 percent of the value of property on mortgages not exceeding $16,000.

In today's announcement, the administration said:

"Long time mortgage loans on low cost housing projects up to the full value of the buildings, exclusive of the land, which must be unencumbered, may be insured under section 207 x x x."

Capitalization of low cost projects is limited to actual investment by the stockholders. On this they may receive regular annual dividends not to exceed 2 1/2 per cent a year, provided special disbursements are returned to the tenants in the form of rebates or rent.

"Earnings in excess of regular six percent dividends and 2 1/2 per cent special disbursements to stockholders and tenants must under the rules governing insured mortgages, be allowed to accumulate for distribution to the tenants at such times and in such amounts as the administrator in his discretion shall determine."

It was further provided that no capital stock can be retired during the lifetime of the mortgage, which may run up to 20 years.

The low-cost housing corporations may be financed either by private capital or by municipalities or states or the federal government. Rents, charges, capital structure, rate of return and methods of operation may be regulated by the administrator.

WOMAN THANKFUL

Brillon, Wis., Nov. 29.—(P)—Mrs. John Geiger was more than ordinarily thankful this Thanksgiving Day.

Her sister, Mrs. Oscar Rappel of Sheboygan, in cleaning a chicken the Geigers had given her for Thanksgiving dinner found inside the bird a diamond ring Mrs. Geiger lost last January.

Mrs. Geiger said she believed the ring had fallen into food given the chickens on the farm.

HELEN GILLIS FIRST WOMAN PUBLIC ENEMY

"Baby Face" Nelson's Wife Sought By Federal Men

Chicago, Nov. 29.—(P)—Diminutive Helen Gillis tonight unofficially became the nation's first woman public enemy.

Hundreds of federal agents, police, sheriffs and their deputies scoured highways and byways to ferret out the widow of Baby Face Nelson, killer of three federal agents, who fell mortally wounded by bullets from guns of two dying agents.

With her in the furtive dash away from authorities was believed to be John Hamilton, last lieutenant of the crime-crazed Dillinger mob.

And should officialdom meet the desperate duo gunfire will not be withheld, the apparent mercy Inspector Samuel P. Cowley and Federal Agent Herman E. Hollis showed the woman, believed to be Mrs. Gillis, likely will not be repeated. It was that mercy, apparently, that cost them their lives Tuesday.

Inspector H. H. Clegg, who flew here from Washington to assist Melvin H. Purvis, head of the local bureau of investigation of the department of justice, commented tersely: "We want her."

No girl was the petite, 94 pound Helen Wawrzyniak when she married Lester M. Gillis who later became George "Baby Face" Nelson, she was born and reared on Chicago's north-west side.

She is the mother of two children, Arlene, 4, now at the home of Nelson's mother, Mrs. Mary Gillis, 65, and Ronald, 5, reported to be at the home of one of Nelson's sisters in Bremerton, Wash.

It was understood that her bobbed brown hair has been dyed blond and it was expected, that like her husband and others of the Dillinger mob, she has sought to obliterate her fingerprints. The government's official description lists her as five feet two, fair and blue of eyes. She had a mole on her left wrist, but it is likely that has been removed to make identification difficult.

Indication that the government is convinced that Hamilton is alive, and not dead as reported from time to time, came from Clegg.

"We want John Hamilton," he said, but refused further comment.

Momentary excitement flurried through Chicago's loop today when police apprehended a man and a woman at the union bus station. Reports spread quickly that the most sought-after Hamilton and Mrs. Gillis—were under arrest. Mystery surrounded the arrest, as it was not until tonight that it was learned the man and woman were held for questioning concerning a Los Angeles bank robbery.

Deputy Coroner John J. Butler after a conference with federal authorities said he was certain Mrs. Gillis was not in custody. He added that government men would testify tomorrow when the inquest into Nelson's death was convened.

Clegg was expected to leave for Des Moines late tonight to be present as a pall bearer at the funeral for Hollis. Cowley will be buried at Salt Lake City.

Reports persisted that when the agents found Nelson's fingerprints Wednesday, on the government car in which his two companions carried him away after the battle, they also found fingerprints identifying his sides.

Clegg would not admit this today. "We still do not know who was with Nelson," said the federal agent, sent here from Washington to replace the slain Cowley. He said, however: "Hamilton is the man we're most anxious to find."

Nelson's hideout had still not been found. When Cowley and Hollis brought him to bay Tuesday and forced the fierce machine gun battle which killed the three of them, the little gangsters were en route to the Fox Lake region of northern Illinois, it was believed, to a cabin there.

Canned goods in Nelson's car, a light fast sedan, indicated the gangster, his aide and his wife hoped to hide for the winter in that haven. Today Sheriff Lester Tiffany of Lake County, Ill., continued a systematic search of abandoned summer cottages there.

Grade Crossings Must Go

A new reason for the nationwide elimination of grade crossings is furnished by the adoption by the railroad of the streamline train. Such high-speed trains can operate efficiently over a clear right-of-way. Grade crossings should have no place on the modernized railroad if dreadful accidents are to be avoided. Imagine a bullet-shaped train traveling at 90 or 100 miles an hour hitting a motor car stalled on the track!

Another good reason for the wholesale banishment of grade crossings lies in the employment that would be furnished by such projects. There are a quarter of a million such crossings in the United States. Pick-and-shovel men, concrete workers, steam shovel operators, cement manufacturers, steel workers and many others would receive benefit from such a movement.

The question of cost stands in the way of immediate undertaking. Some believe that the government should finance the work thru PWA funds. They base that belief on the assumption that the government will have to spend more billions for jobs anyway, and it might as well put the money where it will do the most good. But in return for that accommodation the railroad companies, which would receive the greatest direct benefit, would be asked to lend full co-operation by modernizing their lines and installing the new equipment.

Too Much Army

Those who think the United States should have a huge peace-time army have only to look about the world to see what difficulties can come from such a policy. Germany is having trouble with too much army. Hitler has his Schutzstaffel, which says it is the supreme military power. But the Reichwehr, Germany's regular army, claims the supremacy for itself. Here are two heavily-armed, well-trained bodies of troops under a military dictatorship. Hitler must choose between them or pacify one or the other with concessions. If he does not he may become a football of the military forces.

Mexico has always had more or less trouble with her standing army. It has often been a question of the president keeping on the good side of the army to remain in power. Rome had that difficulty and bankrupted the state trying to keep soldiers satisfied.

The United States has always had the happy knack of reabsorbing a war time army into the civil structure. Citizen soldiers and not professional troops, have been the backbone of the nation's defense. That condition must continue. Citizens' military training camps are splendid institutions, likewise the Reserve Officers Training Corps. They are the means by which America keeps a body of trained men ready to form a military nucleus in case of emergency. They are, however, the unique products of our military system, and not by any means part of a standing army.

"Mussing Up" Criminals

Police Commissioner Valentine of New York City wants to see criminals "mussed up." When a man accused of murder, whose record included 12 arrests, but no convictions was brought into court, Valentine noted that he was the best dressed man in the room. He opined that men of his type should be marked up by the police every time they are arrested. He remarked that there ought to be blood on the velvet collar of the accused man's coat.

This may sound rather brutal, but it is an evidence that good officers are getting sick and tired of having the courts and the police dominated by the underworld. They desire to make the life of a criminal who falls into the hands of the law so miserable that he will "go straight or get out of the country."

cers while the job was being done. That is the sort of thing that discourages men from entering the law enforcement service. Nelson's life was hardly worth the lead it took to kill him; while the lives of the men he killed were worth everything to their families and to the public they were seeking to protect.

It is well that criminals should be "mussed up," and it is hoped New York police will carry out the commissioner's suggestions. But the federal men have been doing the most thorough job of this sort lately. They have a habit of "mussing up" a criminal so well that his future usefulness in the underworld is nil. There is nothing left to do but bury him.

Foreign Trade

The United States should do all that is compatible with national security and integrity to promote foreign trade. Evidently something is being done in this direction, according to figures issued for the month of October. In that month the United States piled up a favorable trade balance of $206,352,000, the largest since April, 1931. This means that exports exceeded imports by that figure.

For the first ten months of 1934 the trade balance was about $400,000,000, about four times what it was in the same period a year ago. Exports for the first ten months of this year exceeded by nearly half a billion dollars those for the same period in 1933. Slowly but surely this country is building back its foreign markets. That is a most encouraging sign of recovery.

At least one country has found a way to establish credit in this country. Russia is sending thousands of tons of gold ore over here to be smelted, and the gold remains as a credit for the purchase of American goods. Thus Russia is doing a cash business which is about the only kind she can do with the country whose obligations against her she has repudiated.

There is no doubt that the huge war debts stand in the way of foreign trade. If America could accept goods in lieu of payment, they could no doubt be settled; but such a course would disrupt our domestic industry and agriculture. We would rather sell than buy. Yet a favorable trade balance means that we must buy more goods or that other nations must provide more cash.

The New Deal in Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington — President Roosevelt may still think of the New Deal as a football game.

But a lot of the players are regarding it as a game of pushball.

It was the president's notion to describe himself as a quarterback changing signals and plays as rapidly as seemed essential for gains.

Pushball is a game where two teams each try to push a huge ball down the field past the other team's goal line.

I do not mean to suggest that Roosevelt necessarily has become the ball instead of a quarterback, but only to report that the "push" motif is now quite predominant in the New Deal shop talk at lunch tables and at the cocktail, dinner and other evening parties which are so numerous here apparently because so many folks in the emergency agencies are anxious to gather and exchange such shop talk.

Is Roosevelt going to the left or the right? was the question that used to be asked in every ear from dawn until bedtime. But now it's:

"How can we push Roosevelt to the left?" Or how to push him to the right, but less frequently, because it's the progressives who are most worried since P. D. entered his apartment.

honey-moon with business and finance.

Thus far, nobody has discovered any sure-fire recipe for pushing Roosevelt anywhere, and there's a big hope among liberals for better luck when Congress enters the game in January.

Some of the red-hot progressives brought in by this administration have picked up the technique of lobbying until they're as good at it as any of the high-priced representatives of special interests.

The pushball game probably will develop this winter into an snappy liberal-conservative war as we've ever seen.

Williams Plays Santa

In the center of the big table at which the National Industrial Recovery Board deliberates, there's always a present from Chairman Clay Williams.

First it was a carton of the famous brand of cigarettes which Williams' company makes. But it appeared that most of the other six members preferred other brands. They smoked their own.

So now Williams usually brings a basket of fruit — grapes, apples, oranges, bananas and things like that.

Hutchins Boom Fades

Even his warmest supporters here no longer believe that President Bobby Hutchins of the University of Chicago will join up with the New Deal. Their only faint hope rests in the fact that Hutchins is said to be anxious to leave his present post, which is discounted by Hutchins' recent loss of caste here when he appeared as a character witness for Sam Insull, Jr.

Hutchins could have become a member of NIRA had he desired. But he wanted to succeed Williams as chairman and F. D. wouldn't promise him that. There were several reasons, one being that Williams hadn't given any indication that he would quit—though, as few know, he originally took the chairmanship for only 60 days, which are now up.

The young prexy probably would have furnished as much "hot copy" for us newspaper writers as General Johnson himself.

Just to show you how quick on the trigger he is, there's the story of his meeting with Supreme Court Justice McReynolds. The justice rather crabbily remarked he supposed Hutchins, then head of Yale Law School, was teaching his pupils "that we're just nine old idiots."

"Oh, no," protested Hutchins, "we expect them to find that out for themselves!"

Holding Out on Huey

PWA loans to Louisiana will be held up until Secretary Ickes gets an idea just where revenues in New Orleans and elsewhere in Huey Long's domain are coming from and where they're going.

In addition to approved projects where advances have been halted, there's a proposal for a nearly $4,000,000 hospital in New Orleans on which no action will be taken until Ickes is satisfied.

54 Lodge Members Get Silver Medals In Jersey County

Jerseyville—Fifty-four members of the Hickory Grove camp, Modern Woodmen of America, were awarded silver buttons in honor of their twenty-five year affiliation with the local camp. The presentation was made Tuesday evening by Thomas Haegge, state manager of the M. W. A. from Bloomington in the Woodman hall in Jerseyville.

The oldest member to receive the award was Hon. J. M. Page, ninety year old editor, who was also the only charter member of the local organization present.

The Groppe family of Rosedale was well represented in the organization and in the Royal Neighbors of America, the auxiliary of the Woodmen. L. G. Groppe, county superintendent of schools of Jersey county, his four brothers and three brothers-in-law were all eligible for the twenty-five year buttons, and his three sisters are members of the Royal Neighbors organization. Due to the road conditions, however, L. G. Groppe was the only member of the family able to be present at the ceremonies this week.

One member who received the award, Robert L. Rowell, walked six miles to the hard road to come to the meeting.

Receive Candidates

During the evening a class of five candidates was adopted, including the following: Benjamin Sneider, Henry Schlegel, Benjamin Lahey, Fred Atchison and Gene Sears. Two other candidates who are in the class are away at college and will be initiated at a later date. They are Prentiss Cheney who is a student at Knox college in Galesburg and Edward Groppe who is attending the Southwestern Illinois State Teachers college at Carbondale. Another class adoption is scheduled for the near future.

A short address was given during the evening by O. D. Pfaffenberger, district deputy of Alton and visiting neighbors were present from Fidelity, Medora, Hardin, Kane, Bellview, Batchelor and Alton.

Twenty-five Year Members

Those receiving the twenty-five year buttons are: J. M. Page, Charles R. Schmidt, James H. Seago, John Keener, John W. Hayes, C. W. McFall, John Trullinger, Tony Pierra, Herman Green, L. E. Two Burglaries

Two petty thefts occurred in Jerseyville Tuesday night when the Jerseyville Public Library and the Baptist church were broken into and a number of small articles taken.

The thieves gained entrance at the library through a west window in the building. The desk in the place was ransacked and the contents scattered about the building. The only loot taken upstairs was about 12 cents in stamps and a pair of spectacles belonging to Miss Nelle Hilliday, the librarian.

After searching the upstairs, the marauders forced open a door leading into the basement and entered that part of the building. Here they stole two razors belonging to the janitor, Dan Mann.

Some time during the same evening a window was broken at a Baptist church and thieves entered that building and took a small quantity of food from the kitchen. Tools were used to force the basement door at the library and in both crimes many fingerprints were left by the thieves.

Currents in the News

With announcement of dates for holding the municipal primary and election prospective candidates for city offices will soon begin building their fences for a try out for political favor in the spring campaign. Two years ago the field of candidates for mayor was unusually large. How the lists will fill this campaign remains to be seen but grooming of candidates will soon be in order.

The state of Idaho, famous for sending William E. Borah to the United States Senate, is getting more prominence through its junior Democratic senator, James P. Pope, who has taken decided issue with his Republican colleagues over the latter's criticism of the administration of federal relief. Spirited congressional debate upon this subject seems in prospect.

It has been estimated that 29,000,000 tons of steel rust away annually, and in less than a century and a half, the world's supply of iron deposits will be used up.

Allan Cole Estate Has Complications

The will of the late Sheriff Allan Cole of Sangamon county, who with his wife was fatally injured in an automobile collision near Jacksonville, has been filed for probate at Springfield, revealing a unique problem in matters of this kind. The will of Mrs. Cole also adds to the legal complications in connection with the settlement of her estates.

Mrs. Cole's will, naming her husband as her only beneficiary, is said to be illegal because it was not signed by witnesses. Sheriff Cole's will drawn up in 1926, before his marriage to Mary Clemmie Clayton, provided that the bulk of the estate go to a foster daughter, Mrs. Edward Baddely, Rutland, Vt.

The will, however, specified that should Mrs. Cole marry Miss Clayton, in the event of his death his estate should go to her. It also specified that Mrs. Cole was to treat Mrs. Baddely fairly in providing for her.

Mrs. Cole died a few hours before Mr. Cole, and as Sheriff Cole had no blood relatives the estate will probably remain in the hands of Sangamon county, or until someone can prove right to the estate.

If Mrs. Baddely is an adopted daughter, she can claim the entire estate; if not, she must prove her right to the estate.

Sheriff Cole had insurance policies amounting to approximately $8,000, it is said, in addition to owning the Pleasant Plains Argus, the newspaper he published.

In the event there are no legal claims to the estate, a court order will be directed that the property be sold and the money placed in the county treasurer's office, where it is not to be touched until rightful claims are made. There is to be no interest added to the estate funds from the time it is placed in the custody of the treasurer.

CANDY MAKERS GIVEN ORDERS

Washington, Nov. 29.—(P)—The George Ziegler Co., Milwaukee, Wis., and the Paul F. Beich Co., Bloomington, Ill., were ordered by the federal trade commission today to discontinue practices in the marketing of candy which might involve lotteries, gaming devices or gift enterprises.

The commission found the Beich company had carried on practices involving use of a lottery scheme "notwithstanding provisions of the code of fair competition for the candy manufacturing industry." The code the commission report said, has been "binding upon every member of the industry" since July 30, 1934.

Complaint was served last October 4.

ROBINSON IN OMAHA

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 29.—(P)—Omaha police and department of justice agents tonight were investigating a report that Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., named as the kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Spent Stoll, Louisville, Ky., society woman, was seen at an Omaha filling station tonight.

J. D. McDevitt, operator of the station in the west suburbs of the city, said two men, one of whom he believed resembled Robinson, bought gasoline from him and drove toward the city limits. McDevitt immediately called police.

A census of one acre of a farm near Washington, D. C., showed that 30 pairs of birds made their nests there.

Rev. Richards Gives Thanksgiving Talk At Illinois College

Rev. W. A. Richards of Congregational church delivered the principal address at the Thanksgiving service held Thursday morning at Illinois college, giving a message of inspiration to the assembled students, faculty and friends.

In spite of the fact that the usual Thanksgiving vacation has been shortened this year to just one day, Illinois college had an opportunity to celebrate the holiday in the traditional manner. The special service in the chapel Thursday morning with the program arranged by the students was a feature of the day received with appreciation by those in attendance.

For those who think that no Thanksgiving would be complete without the roast turkey, a bountiful dinner was arranged for 7:30 last evening, at Baxter hall.

After the climax to the 1934 football season, students and guests wended their way toward the dining hall where the feast awaited them. Following this a social evening was enjoyed.

Rev. Richards' Address
Rev. Richards in his remarks emphasized "Some of the Spiritual Aspects of Thanksgiving," which gave to the audience an uplift and inspiration for true thankfulness. He said in part:

Thanksgiving is a day on which we make our acknowledgement of the things which we hold to be of supreme worth in life. That first festival of thanksgiving, associated in our minds not with any so-called spiritual gifts, but rather with the most basic and elementary needs of men—with corn fields and log cabins. If we today were to attempt to base our Thanksgiving solely on the material aspects of life, I greatly fear that the result would be something close to a hollow mockery. For so many millions of our fellow countrymen would not be able to join with us wholeheartedly. These years of depression have rendered it difficult, if not impossible, for great masses of our fellow Americans to "sing joyfully before the Lord" a song of heartfelt thanks for any material blessings of life.

Spiritual Values of Life
Yet these years have brought us to a new awareness of certain other things for which we can be truly and deeply thankful. These things cannot be weighed or measured, yet they have within them the capacity to sustain us and to lighten our way. Let me mention, briefly, a few of these spiritual values of life for which I believe that we may be deeply thankful. There are a whole host of simple joys in life that most of us pass completely over, unnoticed and unappreciated. Poets and artists have always been distinguished by their ability to appreciate these natural and elemental aspects of life. The perfectly limitless beauty and loveliness of nature; the abiding joy of high companionships and friendships; the stimulus and deep satisfaction of "one heart that loves and understands." One wonders how any of us could render a sufficient tribute of gratitude for these things!

Closely related, is a truth which we have always known, but which we

B. & P. Clubs Will Gather in Seattle

Announcement has been received by Miss Irma Brown, publicity chairman of the Jacksonville Business and Professional Women's club that Mrs. Nell Laws, Washington, was appointed on Monday Nov. 26, Director of Publicity for the Northwest Biennial of the National Federation, to be held in Seattle July 14-20. Through her staff she will keep the clubs from time to time, informed of the pre-convention news. The general chairman of the convention is Miss Amy Lewellen of Pullman, Washington.

The first railroad ticket to Seattle for attendance at the Biennial convention of the association has been purchased by Miss Carrie McClelland of the Colorado Federation. Miss McClelland, in planning for a year's stay in San Diego, bought a round trip ticket with the return by way of Seattle. Thus she became the first purchaser.

The November issue of the "Independent Woman" has just been received by members, and as usual is outstanding in its interesting articles. This number in line with the "Ten Year Objective of the National Federation presents constructive ideas, aiming toward social justice, as well as news of women's contributions in many fields.

The political series which were begun in the October number by Secretary Henry A. Wallace, told why women should support the present Democratic administration, while Norman Thomas, presented reasons for voting the socialist ticket. This month, Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the National Republican committee, tells "Why Women Should Vote the Republican ticket." The article "Light from Her Neighbors Window," tells of the aid offered to unemployed women in which the clubs of the organization are achieving notable success.

Mrs. Mary Beard with her unique background in suffrage and labor movements writes most comprehensively in her article "Women and Social Crises." "Life Begins at 70 for Aljandra Rios," is an account of a Mexican woman, in San Antonio, Tex., who at 76 is a distinguished example of a successful independent woman, in her business of making hand made dolls. Her life in the courage displayed is an inspiration to all women.

Dr. Grace H. Beardsley of Baltimore, Maryland has been appointed chairman of the International Relations committee and will guide 1400 clubs in round table and panel discussions, also in study groups in this important subject. During the last twelve months it has increased in interest among the various clubs of the organization.

Gridiron Hop Will Be Friday Evening

Illinois College Gridiron Hop will be held Friday evening at Baxter Hall. This event will be a delightful climax to the football season and all football men of Illinois College are invited to be guests of the college at the dance.

In the decorations and on the dance programs the football motif will be used. The programs will be unusually attractive and they will have a silhouette of a football player on the cover. In the arrangement of the list of dances this idea will also appear, as the dances will be divided into quarters and halves as in football games. The programs have been designed by Helen Kinner.

Music for the Hop will be furnished by Art Herr and his orchestra, the same band which furnished the music for the Homecoming dance.

Chaperones will be Coach and Mrs.

Advocates of Bonus Say No Compromise Will Be Considered

Washington—(P)—While high officials of the Roosevelt administration bandied a big stick labeled "taxes" in an effort to curb the bonus drive, advocates of full and immediate payment surged forward today with the slogan "no compromise."

Though administration leaders have expressed the belief that such a drive can be blocked, the contest now getting up full steam leaves a wide margin of uncertainty as to how large the expenditures of the next congress will be.

A suggestion put forward here yesterday, apparently with the tentative approval of President Roosevelt, would be in directly with the question of relief funds. The proposal, made by Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) of the senate finance committee was that needy veterans get their bonus immediately and—to that extent at least—be taken off relief rolls.

A suggestion that such compromise offers are an admission of defeat came from Frank H. Belgrano, Jr., national commander of the American Legion, which is on record for full payment.

Declaring "there is no compromise to make," he said at Indianapolis: "As regards these suggested compromises, it is not the side which feels that its cause is just that comes forward with offers of an armistice. It invariably is the side that knows its cause is lost."

CHICAGO BEARS WALLOP DETROIT

Detroit, Nov. 29.—(P)—Scoring all their points through the air, a versatile Chicago Bears eleven today defeated the Detroit Lions 19 to 16 to clinch the western division championship of the National Professional Football League.

In the toe of Jack Manders, Bear fullback and former Minnesota star, lay the difference which gave the Chicago club its 12th straight victory this fall and the Detroit team its second defeat in a dozen starts. Manders booted two field goals, both in the third period, more than matching the one kicked by Glen Prosell, Lion quarterback, in the second.

A break of the game, opportunely seized by Zeller, Bear guard, played a big part in the Bear victory. With the score 16 to 13 in the Lions favor in the final period, Zeller intercepted "Ace" Gutowsky's pass on the Chicago 46 and raced to the Detroit four before Gutowsky hauled him down. Two smashes at the Detroit line gained only two yards. Then Nagurski, Bear fullback, faked a plunge and pushed a soft, floating pass over the piled up linemen to Bill Hewitt, in the end zone. Nagurski's conversion attempt was blocked.

Trailing by nine points as the third period opened, the Bears called on Manders. The former Gopher booted one from the 21 and another from the 42.

Then came Zeller's interception and Hewitt's winning touchdown in the final period.

TESTS SHOW BEST CORN VARIETIES IN CHINCH BUG YEARS

Urbana, Ill.—As the worst chinch bug year in the history of the state, 1934 has gone farther than any other season on record in establishing the resistance of different varieties of corn to this destructive insect pest, according to W. J. Mumma, plant breeding specialist at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Certain varieties of corn grown in areas where chinch bugs have been prevalent in the past again lived up to their reputation of producing good crops in spite of the bugs. Even better yields were harvested in the case of a number of hybrid strains tested this year. On the other hand, varieties and strains developed in parts of Illinois and in other states where chinch bugs have not been a problem in the past, suffered badly this summer. By resistance to chinch bugs, explains Mumma, is meant resistance to the ravages of second-brood bugs. No corn has been able to persist under a heavy early attack of the first brood.

Anticipating a heavy chinch bug outbreak this year, the U. of I. agronomy department and federal research workers cooperated in making variety and hybrid corn tests in various parts of the state. Of 11 strains planted on the F. V. Wilson farm in Effingham county, the highest-yielding one was a hybrid, Champion White Pearl, which was used as a standard of comparison, closely followed by Blackhawk, Golden Beauty, Pride of Saline and Moore Yellow Dent.

The hybrid which produced the highest yield was a cross between Moore Yellow Dent and Inbred 4211, an inbred produced at the U. of I. experiment station. Moore Yellow Dent itself produced about 5 per cent less than Champion White Pearl, while the cross yielded about 15 per cent more than Champion White Pearl. There was a fair proportion of barren stalks in the case of the latter variety, whereas the hybrid produced a good ear on nearly every stalk.

Practically all of the U. of I. corn experimental crosses were made this year with the view of producing strains that will do well under chinch-bug conditions. Dr. J. R. Holbert's No. 14 proved particularly good this fall, as well as the Illinois state cross 5120 X 4211.

TURKEY MISSING ON COUNTY JAIL MENU

But Prisoners Get Fill of Roast Beef

Prisoners in the Morgan county jail may not have much for which to be thankful, but they did get a "break" Thursday in the way of victuals. It was Thanksgiving Day, and a special menu was dished up for the nine men incarcerated there.

Turkey was missing from the festive board, also goose and chicken. But the boys got their fill of roast "biff" along with plenty of other food.

The menu included roast beef, brown gravy, potatoes, dressing, cabbage, apple salad, head lettuce, celery, pickles and bread. Then there was cake and pie to finish up on.

Most of the prisoners at the county bastille are waiting trial in circuit court. Offenses with which they are charged range from vagrancy to murder.

FILE VIOLATION SUITS

St. Louis—(P)—Two suits, one against the Coal Service Company, have been filed by the government for alleged code violations.

The suit against the Coal Service Co., charged it with retailing coal at less than code prices. Federal Judge Charles B. Davis ordered the company to show cause Saturday why a preliminary injunction should not be issued. The other suit was against the National Garment Co., and its subsidiary, the National Underwear Corporation.

Major league racing has returned to California after an absence of many years. Ten other thoroughbreds were in a shipment from Lexington, Ky., but all attention was focused on Ladyman, shown above with W. Phillips, and Consul, ones of the W. R. C. strings, upon their arrival at the new Santa Anita Park track, hard by Los Angeles. Both are scheduled to be nominated for the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap to be run on Feb. 23.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 29.—(P)—The Big Twelve high school football conference ended today with Springfield and Peoria Manual as co-champions, each trouncing its opponent in the annual Thanksgiving game.

Springfield whipped Decatur 52 to 0 in the 28th clash between the two teams. In sharing the championship with Peoria, Springfield won its fifth successive Big Twelve title, having lost no conference games in the past five years.

Peoria Manual beat its home town rival, Peoria Central, 19 to 0 in the final game of the year ending its conference season with 5 wins 1 tie and no defeats.

Peoria Manual and Springfield met each other previously in the season but failed to break a tie deadlock when each scored 7 points.

HILLVIEW WINS OWN TOURNAMENT

Hillview won the championship game in its own invitational tournament Wednesday night, defeating Kane 29-19. The first half of the game was rather close and exciting the half ending 10-8 for Hillview.

Rockbridge won third place in the tournament, defeating Eldred 16-13. Eldred set the pace and led throughout most of the game keeping Rockbridge away from the basket with their air tight defense.

IDAHO WINS

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 29.—(P)—Idaho University defeated Creighton University 13 to 0 in a Turkey Day football game featured by a 40 yard pass in the second quarter by McGue of Idaho, to Iverson, who caught the ball on the ten yard line and raced over for Idaho's second score. The Vandals scored first in the first period on an eight yard swing around end by Devlin.

ALUMNI WIN FROM JERSEYVILLE H. S.

Former Players Returned to Show Youngsters How Touchdowns Are Scored—Ivan Heiderscheid and Tomlinson Feature Game.

Jerseyville, Nov. 29.—(P)—Jersey Township high school alumni came back to the gridiron here this morning to show the high school lads how touchdowns are scored. Norman Tomlinson, freshman at Washington University, St. Louis, barging over for the first touchdown and Sweeney scoring the second after a pass from Ivan Heiderscheid to bring a 13-0 victory.

With a fine spirit prevailing between the two elevens, a large crowd "had more fun" at the game. The crowd saw Tomlinson, whose 23 yard placekick against the St. Louis U. freshmen won a football game in St. Louis last Saturday 16-13, performing at fullback position. They also saw Ballard, Williamson and Blish, all members of the Rollo School of Mines football squad, Maurice Heiderscheid, Southern Teachers, and Thatcher, from Notre Dame, in action.

The game was the last for Fred Fuchs, Downey, Erb, Hanes, Thomas, Murphy and Ingersoll of the high school squad. These boys will be with the alumni team next year.

Tomlinson scored the first touchdown after a punting duel had forced the high school team back into its own territory. Sweeney scored the second on a pass from Ivan Heiderscheid.

Close Season With 19-0 Win Over Carthage in Mud; Turn Breaks Into Scores Quickly

Illinois College today is the third place team in the Illinois College conference, and there is no team in the league in a position to dispute their sole possession of the place. The Blue-boys made that clear Thanksgiving afternoon when they turned breaks into three touchdowns and a point after touchdown to win a hard fought 19-0 victory over Carthage college in a well and cleanly played game.

Augustana, without a defeat this season, and Millikin, undefeated but tied once, claim the first two positions in the conference. Illinois college's only loss was to Western Teachers, but of Macomb 7-0, is the only night during the season.

Striking with the speed of lightning, the Blueboys marked up three touchdowns despite a slippery heavy field. They moved into scoring position eight plays after the kick-off and then blocked a punt in the Carthage end zone to get their first touchdown.

An intercepted Carthage pass, returned 30 yards to the visitor's 18 yard line, paved the way for the second touchdown. The third was the result of two well executed plays. Illinois recovering a fumble on the Carthage 37 and scoring a touchdown on two forward passes.

Almost a record crowd watched the Blueboys rivet third place this year, shouting their encouragement under a darkened sky. Mud on the field slowed up the work of the ball carriers, but despite the heavy condition of the field, several brilliant, thrilling runs were marked up by both teams. The ball acquired a coat of mud at times, but remained almost dry throughout the game.

A powerful, rolling and determined team shot down the field immediately after the opening kick-off to score the first touchdown. Taking the kick-off on their own 37, Speuhr ripped off 17 yards on their first play Mangieri streaked off the opposite tackle for 25 yards, and Speuhr made ten. There Carthage stiffened, and Illinois lost the ball on downs on the Carthage seven yard line.

Fedurs Blocks Punt.

Still determined, big Abe Fedurs crashed through the Carthage line, struck one hand in front of Clifton's attempted punt out of danger territory, and knocked the ball to the ground in the end zone where Willis Munger picked it up and began to run. Munger quickly realized he was in the end zone and touched the ball to the ground for the touchdown. Tony Donat shot off tackle for the point after touchdown.

From then on until the end of the half, Carthage was kept backed up in their own territory, gradually forcing the Blueboys back into their own territory during the kicking down. Illinois had the edge in first downs during the half, marking up seven of their total of 10 while allowing Carthage only three first downs out of their total of eight.

Striking quickly as the second half opened, Ray Smith intercepted a Carthage pass on the Carthage 46 yard line, paused momentarily in the mud, and then streaked down the sideline to the Carthage 18 where he was finally hauled down. It was Smith who saved a bad situation after three plays gained only a yard, the Pleasant Hill lad taking the ball from a punt formation, cutting across the field, and then running to the three yard line before he was hauled down. He dashed past his field of pursuers quickly after running across the field, shaking off two tacklers before finally giving up to the superiority of numbers.

Watts and Speuhr each made a yard on the third play Donat shoved through center and barely got the ball over the paystraps. An attempted plunge for the extra point was stopped inches from the goal line.

Carthage Makes Threat
Carthage made their only threat as the fourth quarter opened, the 220 pound Carthage fullback, Rickert, going into action to start a drive for a touchdown. He recovered a fumble on his own 44 yard line, made 13 yards on three plays for a first down on the Illinois 41, added Clifton gain four yards on two plays, and blocked Willis Clifton shot a pass to Roman for a first down on the Illinois 26. Rickert made two yards on one attempt, saw Markel lose five on an end-around play and then shot through a hole in the Blueboy line only to be pulled down on the Illinois eight after 21 yards of plowing.

There he and the whole Carthage team was stopped. Clifton lost five yards, Dimmitt made back two yards, and a fourth-down pass was incomplete. Illinois punted out, but Clifton brought the ball back to the Illinois 33, and Carthage carried it to the Illinois 24 before they lost it on downs. Illinois again kicked out to the middle of the field.

The most sensational touchdown of the game followed. Carthage attempted a statue of liberty play, but Fedurs tackled the statue, knocking the ball out of his hands, and Kurtz recovered on the Illinois 46.

Springing the play which was vented by the Blueboy coach, called the "humdinger." Watts passed to Speuhr, and the Blueboy back raced 37 yards to the Carthage 17 before he was pulled down. On the next play Watts passed to Speuhr for 12 yards, and Speuhr, with a Carthage man mounted on his back, wobbled the last five yards to score a touchdown. A placekick for the added point failed.

Whole Line Features.
Again it was the powerful Illinois line that featured the battle. Munger, Ford, Davis, Kurtz and Fedurs ranging far and wide to make tackles, and routing Carthage defensive men out of the way to make the Blueboy offense click. Munger, particularly, was hitting on all cylinders, using his 160 pounds excellently in stopping the hurry Carthage fullback on smashes into the line. Bob Miller and Ray Collins also stood out as ends. Miller stopping the off tackle stalks which Carthage used on its drive deep into Illinois territory.

In the backfield, Ray Smith played a brilliant game, kicking well, tossing passes, and intercepting two Carthage throws. Both Speuhr and Mangieri were hard for the Carthage men to bring down, and the field generalship of Tony Donat and Kenneth Mann left little to be desired. Donat and Mann worked in relay, both quarterbacks making several nice gains and handling the team well.

Rickert was the outstanding Carthage back starting slowly but working up to a point where he was a hard charging battering ram. Rickert was shifted from tackle to the fullback position for this game. Dimmitt and Clifton were elusive runners, but the mud and a sticky Blueboy defense kept them from getting away for consistent gains.

Substitutions—Carthage, Dorothy, Morrison, Niekamp, Oberlies, Remis, Weidman, Illinois—Collin, LaRussa, Jones, Stucka, Lambaso, Mattson, Pacotli, R. Smith, Mann, Powers, England.

COMMUNIST ACCOUNT of Royal Marriage Has Discordant Air

London—(P)—A discordant note amid England's paeans of praise and demonstrations of sentimental affection for the royal lovers today was the treatment of their wedding by the Communist newspaper, the Daily Worker.

Its banner line heading the wedding story was: "Out-of-Work Princess Signs on for Dole. You Pay for her Wedding Bells."

The newspaper's account of the marriage began:

"Today Marina, daughter of an unemployed Greek former prince, marries George, son of the head of the most prosperous branch of the firm of Royalty Unlimited—The Buckingham Palace branch of the old German family company which supplies Europe with unwanted monarchs."

"When Marina signs the marriage register," the Daily Worker said, "she qualifies for the handsome dote of 25,000 pounds (about $125,000) a year."

"As a bachelor George drew 10,000 pounds yearly. His marriage allowance will be 15,000 pounds, placing the couple on a scale of relief equivalent to 500 pounds weekly.

"By forming this match Marina has done very well for numerous members of her branch of the Royal Unlimited concern, who since the war and their rejection from Russia, Greece and elsewhere have been doing rather poorly."

"Swarms of these poor relations of the Royal Rabbit Warren are now in London, luxuriating in luscious pastures. Not one of the gang is engaged in any useful or productive occupation. Consequently all their keep has to be provided by the British masses."

PLAN MANY ARRESTS OF THOSE WHO HAVE AIDED SLAIN GUNMAN

San Francisco—(P)—With George "Baby Face" Nelson dead, department of justice agents here turned their attention today to a roundup of persons accused of aiding the former John Dillinger gunman during his recent secret sojourn in California and Nevada.

Ten persons will be arrested shortly in northern California and Nevada on charges of harboring the public enemy, said E. P. Guinane, division chief of the department of justice.

Guinane said his chief concern is the capture of John Chase, 32, from whom he hoped to obtain valuable information.

PHILIPPINES AGAIN HIT BY TYPHOON: 300 HOMES RAZED; 1 DEAD

Manila, P. I.—(P)—A typhoon killed at least one man and destroyed 300 houses in Tacloban, capital of the Island of Leyte, as it swept across the Philippines today.

For a time the storm endangered the lives of 40 men aboard the American freighter New York. But after flashing an SOS early today that she was being driven toward Abaya Point near San Bernardino Strait, the San Francisco freighter reported at noon, "all OK now."

CONTRACT NOT RATIFIED

East St. Louis, Ill.—(P)—In the United Electric Coal company's injunction suit against the Progressive Union it was brought out that the United Mine Workers' contract to work the company's Freeburg, Ill. mine had not been ratified by union referendum.

An official of the United Mine Workers' Union told the court yesterday the contract was not ratified in accordance with a contract stipulation. Earlier witnesses had described how Progressives picked the mine when the company attempted to open it recently with United Miners.

"BEACH BEAUTY" by ARTHUR SHUMWAY

SYNOPSIS
After Earl Harrow, theatrical producer, attends a Community Players' amateur show and sees for Harrow, a member of his staff, and in Ida's eyes a mental. It made an awkward situation. Not that she was trying to interest Harrow in herself, except professionally, but it was awkward. Probably it was only silly, girlish envy, she told herself. Was it?

When she got home, her mother said, "Pete was back again. I told him you were over town and he drove over to look for you. Did you see him?"

Kay shook her head. "But I'll stop by his place," she said.

"It's too late," Kay looked at her mother with utter surprise. "Too late?"

where, with Ida Campbell, Spike told her. Kay was surprised to find how annoying it was now to be working for Harrow, a member of his staff, and in Ida's eyes a mental. It made an awkward situation. SCHOOL FOR DEAF WINS IN MISSOURI

Fulton, Mo., Nov. 23.—(Special)—Illinois School for the Deaf, Jacksonville, defeated Missouri School for the Deaf football warriors 7 to 6 on an unscored gridiron here this afternoon.

With rain falling during the entire game, both teams were handicapped by the slippery ball and fumbles were rather numerous, especially on the Missouri side of the line.

Illinois completely outplayed the local boys, making fifteen first downs to none for the home boys.

Arman made the seven points for the Burns' team, crashing through the line for a touchdown and plunging for the bonus point.

Poor generalship on the part of Illinois gave Missouri its lone touchdown. I. S. D. had been penalized and it was third down and forty yards to go. Instead of punting the ball I. S. D. decided to try a lateral pass which was intercepted by Brewer who legged it down the field for a touchdown.

The game was played under intercollegiate rules and the Illinois players unfamiliar with the rules were penalized more than 250 yards during the afternoon.

A good sized crowd witnessed the game.

GIVE PROGRAM THURSDAY AT I. S. B. CHAPEL

Annual Thanksgiving Service is Presented by Students

The annual Thanksgiving program of the School for the Blind was given Thursday morning in the chapel, the principal, Miss Brooks, presiding. Prominent in the program was the theme of national peace. Also, departing from the usual custom of a program by grades, this one was presented by all the extra-curricular organizations of the school, with the exception of the orchestra and the chorus, several members having gone to their homes for Thanksgiving.

The program began with an organ prelude by Mr. Gerlach. Miss Brooks read the "Prayer for the Spiritual Union of Mankind" by Harry Emerson Fosdick. The "National Hymn" by Warren was sung by the school. Wilfred Krause read the President's Proclamation of Thanksgiving. The children of Kindergarten, first and second grades gave a demonstration of rhythms, prepared by Miss Irma Reese and their grade teachers, Mrs. Edward Duncan, Mrs. Charles E. Cole and Miss Rose McGuire. "Scotch Grace," a play by Grace Barnum, was given by six girls of the Philomathean Society, Miss Miriam Russell, adviser. In an oration, "Youth Votes for Peace," Arthur Bergfeld appeared as the second representative of the Freshman class, the reader of the President's Proclamation having been the first. The twenty-two members of this class prepared the oration and final choice of the orator for the program was made on Wednesday afternoon.

Boy Scouts Troop No. 12, with the Scout Master, Mr. Donald W. Overbey in charge, gave a very instructive demonstration of their work in "A Court of Honor." Two boys, in effect receiving the Tenderfoot badge, told how they met the requirements for it. Two, presumably receiving second class badges, told how these were obtained. Two others explained the significance of first class badges. Five boys, as candidates for merit badges, explained what they had done to obtain them.

The members of the L.O.A., Frank Arena president, and Frank Zaccagnini secretary pro tem, debated a motion. Resolved that the society adopt the English style of debating, as demonstrated in the debate on Nov. 13th, amended the motion to substitute the word "try" instead of "adopt," then in a mood of irrelevance, nullified the motion by striking out the phrase "of debating," whereupon the mover adjourned. Mr. Dale W. Hamilton is adviser of this organization, also of the freshmen class.

In closing, the Girls' Glee Club, directed by Miss Lorine Dewese, sang (a) O God Beneath Thy Guiding Hand and (b) How Gentle God's Commands.

Big Crowds of Shoppers Expected Today on First "Jacksonville Day"

Big crowds of shoppers are expected to visit Jacksonville's business district today and tonight on the first of the two "Jacksonville Days." The second and final day will follow Saturday.

A special feature of the two sales days this year is the "open stores" on this evening, all merchants participating in the sales event are keeping their stores open until 8:30 o'clock. The regular closing hour for Saturday will be observed on tomorrow.

An additional feature will be "Bargain Hour" this evening between seven and eight o'clock, during which time practically all stores in the business district will offer unusual and outstanding bargain specials for the one hour only.

Jacksonville stores are decorated in Christmas colors, the large trees in Central park are lighted with colored lights, and toy and gift displays are complete in all stores. A visit to the business district will therefore be both interesting and profitable, for all stores are offering the public some of the most practical and finest "buys" in merchandise that have been shown in this city.

These "Jacksonville Days" will be the final annual sales event in Jacksonville in 1934, and as the event officially opens the holiday shopping season, an admonition to the public to "shop early" now for Christmas needs is being made.
